Residents told to be vigilant after break-ins and car thefts

TOWN BEING HIT BY A CRIMEWAVE

Report by Jamie Brassington

A CRIMEWAVE is hitting Halesowen with cars being stolen off driveways and homes being burgled, warn community leaders

Police confirmed that the town is suffering a 'spike in crime' and ward councillors have urged people to report anything suspicious.

Thieves are breaking into homes and stealing cars at night, said Halesowen North's Councillor Hilary Bills.

She said: "The biggest thing we are having is cars are being stolen off driveways at night when people are asleep."

"There has also been house burglaries. This is happening right across Halesowen, particularly in the Hurst Green area."

"On social media, people have been saying 'anyone seen my car?'"

"We have definitely got a huge spike in crime at the moment. At the last community forum, Halesowen police sergeant Debra Rowbotham told the meeting 'that there has been a rise in crime.'"

Councillor Bills warned residents and businesses to be on the lookout for anyone acting suspiciously.

"A lot of crime is by opportunists and I think people need to be doubly aware to stay safe and secure. If anyone sees anything suspicious, they should call 101."

Forum

Issues about crime and policing will be raised on Monday at the next community forum, which is attended by Halesowen councillors and West Midlands Police. The Halesowen North and Halesowen South Community Forum will take place at Olive Hill Primary School on Springfield Road from 6.30pm.

Fellow Halesowen North ward councillor Stuart Henley said: "Crime is on the rise everywhere. We could do with more police but that is a political issue." Councillor Henley praised police for raiding a cannabis factory in Halesowen earlier this month.

RESTORING HISTORIC GARDEN TO ITS OLD GLORY

Volunteers saved around £12,000 by clearing old classrooms themselves as part of the Leasowes Park walled garden project at Halesowen

A FRIENDS group of a Halesowen beauty spot is appealing for help to raise £70,000 and complete the refurbishment of a Grade I historic park.

Plans have been in the pipeline since 2014 to bring Leasowes Park back to its best after it fell into disrepair and was targeted by vandals.

The park, which features a walled garden, was designed by poet William Shenstone between 1743 and 1763 and is considered one of England's most influential 18th century landscapes.

Friends of Leasowes are working to return the park to its former glory.

Mick Freer, who leads the group, said: "If we can raise the £70,000, we could turn the park to the way it was."

"The park has been neglected for so many years. We want to have it opened and restored for the people of Halesowen."

"The walled garden is something for the people of Halesowen to be proud of. It is part of the history of Halesowen."

Money has been donated to the group as part of its ongoing project and Mr Freer estimated around half of the project has been completed.

The outer garden is now complete and attention has turned to redeveloping the inner part. An orchard will also be developed and toilets will be built. Call group chairman Marianne Diller on 0121 4227585.

EDUCATION

College is awarded £95,000 sport grant

A £95,000 Sport England grant to encourage young people to be more active has been secured by Halesowen College.

College bosses have ambitious plans to use the money to encourage more people to stay active. These include covered outdoor table tennis tables plus a new active coordinator who will schedule a range of sport, and social and fitness activities throughout the year.

Elaine Cammies, from Halesowen College, said: "This money will really help us to enhance what we already have to help young people improve their fitness as well as their mental health."

EVENT

Velo cycle ride will be back next year

VELO Birmingham will be back next year, say organisers who have heralded the weekend's 100-mile cycle race as an 'exceptional' event.

They have revealed that more than £2 million was raised for charities by the 15,000 cyclists who took part on Sunday. But road closures due to the event angered some people and tacks were left on the route.

POLICE

Suspicious powder sent to MP's office

A POLICE investigation has been launched after a box containing a suspicious white powder was sent to an MP's constituency office in Wordsley.

Mike Wood says staff at his office on High Street were panic stricken after one of them opened a package on Tuesday morning and a powder spilled out. The Dudley South Conservative MP, who was not at his office at the time, said the box appears to have been sent from India and contained 'anti-Islamic statements'.

Surgeon is shortlisted for top awards

Dalvi Humzah

A HOSPITAL cosmetic surgeon has been shortlisted for two prestigious industry awards.

Dalvi Humzah, who works at West Midlands Hospital in Halesowen, is in the running for the prizes at the annual Aesthetics Awards 2017 which will be presented at the Park Plaza Westminster Bridge Hotel in London at the start of December.

He has been announced as a contender in two of the most sought-after categories at the awards which are organised by the Aesthetics Journal and recognise the achievements of practitioners and surgeons working in the cosmetic industry. They include the Enhance Insurance Award for Best Independent Training Provider of the Year for the Aesthetic Clinic Training courses he delivers.

He has also been shortlisted for the PHI Clinic Award for Professional Initiative of the Year for his collaborative work developing a Level 7 qualification with MATA.

He is a finalist with the multidisciplinary group for developing a protocol to deal with the rare complication of blindness associated with filler injections.

MATA is a leading medical and aesthetics academy for healthcare professionals in the UK led by cosmetic and plastic surgeons.

Mr Humzah is an expert in cosmetic and reconstructive surgery at the private hospital. He also provides non-surgical treatments such as laser therapy and treatments to reduce wrinkles.

Mr Humzah said: "It is a real honour to be a finalist in both categories."

Thug jailed for attack on terrified ex-partner

A FRIGHTENED woman sat at home with the lights off because she was so intimidated by her ex-partner, a court was told.

Wolverhampton Crown Court heard that Richard Hughes, of Woodnorton Road, Rowley Regis, would not leave the woman alone after their year-long relationship ended.

The 28-year-old bombarded her with phone calls and text messages while repeatedly driving past her house, said Miss Samantha Powis, prosecuting.

He also arranged for people to bang on her door, shout abuse and park outside for long periods. The tormented victim, 24, told police: "I was so scared I would sit in my house with no lights on."

Slapped

A month after they split he accused her of burglary at his mother's home and demanded that they meet on a car park. He slapped her, pulled her hair and took her to an address where he threatened to keep punching her until she admitted her 'guilt,' and produced a knife.

Mr Simon Burch, defending, said: "He has struggled with the idea he had to let the relationship go."

Hughes pleaded guilty to assault, putting a person in fear of violence and witness intimidation. He was jailed for three-and-a-half years and banned from any further contact with the woman.

A CARE home in Halesowen has been rated 'inadequate' by the health watchdog.

The Care Quality Commission (CQC) found the home was 'not free from hazards'.

The failings were revealed following the unannounced inspection at the home in June, which can care for up to 32 people.

An overall rating of 'inadequate' - the lowest rating - was handed to Two Gates House in Colley Gate and inspectors said the home needed improvements. This marks a decline since the previous inspection in June 2016 when the care home was rated 'good'.

A report said: "The service was not safe. The provider had not ensured that the premises were free from hazards or that equipment used to support people's mobility was safe for the purpose it was used."

"Risks had not been assessed and managed to reduce the risk of avoidable harm. People's medicines were not managed in a safe way. Recruitment practices did not consistently include required references and health declarations."

Leadership

"People felt safe and staff knew how to report abuse. However people's safety and well-being was compromised because concerns had not always been escalated or acted upon."

The care home was rated as 'requiring improvement' in three categories, while an 'inadequate' rating was given for leadership. "The service was not consistently well-led. The management style was reactive with poor communication and a lack of risk oversight."

A spokesman for the home said: "We have an action plan in place for improvement and we have been working proactively with the local authority. The well-being of people in our care is our priority."

"We will continue to work jointly with external professionals, service users and their relatives to make sure the necessary improvements continue to be made."

Duke of Kent opens £4m warehouse

HRH The Duke of Kent with managing director Guy Perry, at A Perry & Co (Hinges) Ltd, Cradley Heath

A £4 million warehouse and manufacturing facility which will pave the way for 20 new jobs has officially been opened by the Duke of Kent in Cradley Heath.

Company directors at A Perry & Co gave him a tour of the 100,000sq ft site in Cradley Heath, where 15 jobs were created and 20 more could follow.

The Duke, a cousin of the Queen, marked the official opening by unveiling a plaque with Guy Perry, the group managing director.

The company bought the site on Doulton Road before refurbishing it and bringing in new equipment and machinery.

The firm, which is famous for its hinges and other ironmongery, was founded in 1925 and is now run by the fourth generation of the family. The firm's products have been used in Buckingham Palace, Wembley Stadium and for the HS2 rail scheme. It has also supplied studios that created Star Wars, Harry Potter and Doctor Who.

Mr Perry said: "We are honoured the Duke of Kent has opened our new distribution, warehouse and manufacturing facilities, marking 92 years of continued growth and expansion for our company."

While other companies within the industry are retracting or standing still, Perry is continuing to offer full-time employment and apprenticeships to local people.

"We have several further major products and new range launches next year."

Station revamp is driving ahead

CONTROVERSIAL proposals to re-develop Dudley Bus Station this week took a major step forward.

Dudley Council's development boss Councillor Ian Kettle said he was satisfied with the scheme after seeing the plans in detail.

Concerns about safety had been raised by cabinet colleague Councillor David Stanley, raising the possibility the council could block the scheme or ask for significant changes.

However, the way now looks to be clear for the project, brought by Transport for West Midlands.

Under the plans, buses will reverse in and out of bays at the revamped station, which had led to concerns pedestrian safety could be put at risk.

But Councillor Kettle insisted changes to the layout would mean passengers would not walk out in front of buses.

The long-awaited revamp of the town's bus station is expected to go ahead as part of the Midland Metro extension into the town - part of major changes over the next decade announced by West Midlands Mayor Andy Street last week.

Speed gun to be used in traffic campaign

A SPEED gun has been bought by road safety campaigners in a bid to crack down on motorists flouting the speed limit in Halesowen.

The campaigners will be out on the streets of the town aiming to catch speeding motorists with the electronic device.

The speed gun records licence plates and speeds just like the police version.

Campaigners have welcomed the move in an effort to promote road safety. They will be working with police as part of the initiative.

The Shell Corner Partnership purchased the device using funding from the West Midlands Police and Crime Commissioner David Jamieson and the Halesowen Community Forum.

Halesowen North ward councillor Hilary Bills said: "Halesowen police sergeant Debra Rowbotham is working with us to step up the community speed watch group across Halesowen north and south.

"We will be out soon with the speed on gun on streets.

"We have bought it using £2,000 from the police and crime commissioner and the forum."

She added: "I think it is safe to say many roads in Halesowen are recognised as speeding hotspots."

The move has been welcomed by Councillor Stuart Henley, fellow ward councillor and campaigner, who said he hoped it would reduced traffic accidents.

Plan for 100 new homes near wood

PLANS for a major housing development near Haden Hill Park have been revealed.

Developer A and J Mucklow Group has lodged plans to put around 100 homes on a green site at Haden Cross, Cradley Heath, where Haden Cross House once stood. The site covers a large area stretching back from Halesowen Road, near Haden Hill Park.

An application for outline permission has been lodged with Sandwell Council. A mix of properties is expected with a planning statement revealing some would likely be three storeys high. Some of the woodland on the land would be retained as part of the proposal.

A design statement, said: "The area of the site which is closest to the A459, where the former Haden Cross House once stood, has been left unmanaged and is now overgrown. The proposed development includes the creation of a new residential development, areas of open space and retains the woodland area to the east of the site."

Safety work part of shops centre revamp

Cornbow centre's proposed new look

A SHOPPING centre frontage is to be replaced as part of it poses a danger to pedestrians.

Planning experts said canopies outside the Cornbow centre in Halesowen were 'failing' and presented a 'health and safety risk' to shoppers.

The shopping centre is being revamped as part of a £1.2 million upgrade and the changes to improve safety will be made as part of the scheme.

Documents submitted by planning agents IDP to support the project, which has been approved by council bosses, revealed there were safety concerns over parts of the structure.

They said: "This design and access statement has been prepared in support of the planning application for the removal of the existing canopies from Hagley Street facade of the Cornbow shopping centre, which are currently a health and safety risk.

"The proposed site is the front elevation of the Cornbow shopping centre, and specifically the canopy which is above the public highway along this facade.

"The canopy is dated, and the numerous columns and totems act as a barrier to shoppers, but more importantly the canopy is in a state of disrepair, held up by a number of temporary struts.

"The proposed replacement of this canopy is therefore not just an aesthetic issue but an issue of health and safety to pedestrians."

Eve O'Connor, Cornbow centre manager, said: "The canopies were becoming outdated and the plan is to reinstate new ones with further work beginning on our revamp in the new year."

Traders call for more free parking in town

BUSINESS leaders are calling for permanent two-hour free parking in council-run car parks Halesowen after a trial period ends this week.

Dudley Council brought in two-hours free parking on council car parks in April but the time limit will go down to one-hour from Sunday.

Halesowen Business Improvement District (BID) has written to the council asking for the two hours of free parking to stay because it has helped local businesses.

Wayne Edwards, chairman of the Halesowen BID, said: "Businesses across Halesowen have benefitted from the two-hour free parking trial. To reduce this allocation to one hour is simply not good enough.

"We wish to work with the council to obtain a longer duration of free parking and it will remain our highest priority until we succeed."

A spokesman for Dudley Council said the parking initiative came into effect on April 24 for car parks also in Dudley, Brierley Hill and Sedgley.

But, from Sunday, parking in the four towns will be reduced to one hour, but the initiative will be extended for car parks in Stourbridge and Kingswinford.

Security

The BID has also been working to improve security in Halesowen to benefit traders and other business people.

The group is speaking with police about high levels of crime in and around the town centre.

Mr Edwards said: "We have a good relationship with the local police and we're working to strengthen that relationship with continued partnership in ensuring the streets of Halesowen are safe."

An online survey was launched last year allowing businesses to report criminal or anti-social activity and the results are being given to police.

As part of the BID project, plans are in the pipeline to bring weekly family events to Halesowen over the festive period in December.

Misty morning image of church

Autumn is in the air at St John the Baptist Church in this atmospheric Halesowen scene

THIS looks like a scene straight out of a fantasy film, as the sun breaks through low lying mist on an old church.

But it was in fact taken by photographer Thomas Ray at a Hale-sowen church while on his way to work early in the morning.

Tom, aged 21 from Halesowen, took the picture of St John the Baptist Church on his mobile phone.

Tom, who studied photography for three years at college, said: "I took the photograph using my iPhone and I wanted to capture the scene because I love it. It looks like an enchanted forest."

Have a say over council tax help

PEOPLE have been urged to have their say on changes to Dudley Council's council tax reduction scheme, before the October 15 deadline.

A consultation is taking place on plans which could see young people leaving the care system get extra help with paying their council tax.

The consultation asks if people are in favour of introducing a new 'vulnerable category' for care leavers aged 18 to 24.

People can take part in the consultation online at the dudley.gov.uk website while paper copies are available at Dudley Council Plus and borough libraries.

The college offers a range of activities to introduce students to the world of work including an academic enrichment programme for sixth-formers.

Cycling and sabotage

FLAG-WAVING crowds, disgruntled businesses, fed up motorists and saboteurs.

The Birmingham Velo brought plenty of drama to the Black Country and its rural fringes on Sunday as 15,000 cyclists took on the 100-mile route.

The race started in Birmingham city centre at 6.30am, then went through Sandwell, South Staffordshire, Wolverhampton and Wyre Forest, returning to the city centre via Halesowen.

Many road closures were in place, forcing some businesses to shut for the day and residents to leave their cars at home.

Nails and tacks were left on the route, including in Bobbington and Swindon, at the start of the day as some angry people tried to sabotage the event.

One tack caused a puncture to the back tyre of marshal David Coxhead's motorbike. His job was to assist vehicles having to use the route in an emergency. It included escorting a carer to a care home.

He said: "I thought they managed to clear them all, but one obviously got my tyre."

Swindon Parish Council chairman Richard Painter said: "Unfortunately there have been tacks put on the road around this area, they were left there in the morning.

Disruption

"Work was done to remove them, but I know some cyclists suffered punctures."

Among those hit by the closures was Lloyd Bigden who drove up from Ipswich for a stunt driving day at Halfpenny Green Airport near Bobbington. But the 24-year-old, and his friend Liam Burns, from Lichfield, could not get to the airport in time for the 11am start.

The disruption to the road network had forced many pubs to open later than usual, including the popular Red Lion in Bobbington, and Halfpenny Green Vineyard did not open until 2pm. People spoke of their frustration at not being able to get to events, including a wedding at Blakelands Country House in Bobbington, where bride-to-be Emma Johnson was given a police escort to arrive in good time to tie the knot with her groom Christopher.

There were also cheers as hundreds of people lined the roads waving flags and holding signs of support for the charity fundraising cyclists.

Body scans are on move to the Guest

A PROJECT has been announced to expand a £3.5 million imaging facility at Dudley Guest Hospital for patients needing body scans.

The outpatients centre at the Tipton Road hospital is being extended to handle an extra 20,000 scans a year.

Health bosses say the project will help to reduce waiting times for patients, but warned some existing services could be affected while the extension work takes place.

Work has already begun on the project and the Dudley Group NHS Foundation Trust, which runs the hospital, hope it will be completed by November 1.

Two new scanners will be brought in to produce the MRI and CT scans.

All patients in Dudley needing the scans will be sent to the Guest Hospital, freeing up services at Russells Hall Hospital and Corbett Outpatient Centre, where they previously went.

Chief

Dr Alec Wolinski, chief of clinical support at The Dudley Group NHS Foundation Trust, said: "Providing scanning facilities closer to patients' homes will not only be more convenient but will also free up scanners at Russells Hall Hospital for inpatients and those needing emergency imaging."

MRI and CT scans are used to scan body parts and can detect internal injuries or cancer.

The development will also create an extra 22 parking spaces, adding to the project's aim to make it easier for patients to access hospital services.

Pedestrians had to leap out of way of speeding car

A BANNED motorist with nine previous convictions for driving while disqualified led police on a chase that ended when he ploughed into another car.

A court heard how pedestrians were put in danger by Lane Smith, of Rowley Regis, some being forced to dive for cover due to his driving. Other motorists had to take evasive action during the incident on an August afternoon in the Black Country. Smith sped off towards Quarry Bank after failing to stop for an unmarked police car while travelling in Cradley Heath at around 4pm on August 18.

Wolverhampton Crown Court heard that the 27-year-old raced down residential streets at up to 70mph in a 30mph limit zone. Mrs Sati Ruck, prosecuting, said he went through a red light, forced other motorists to swerve and mounted the footpath forcing pedestrians to jump out of his way.

No change on elections

PEOPLE have voted in favour of retaining the current elections system in Dudley borough.

More than 1,500 people completed the consultation on the future of the ballot which looked at potential changes.

Elections run every year with a year off every fourth year, but people were asked if they wanted to change to one election every four years when all 72 seats will be contested. But more than 80 per cent of people who responded to the survey opted to keep the current system with 24 seats up for grabs each election year.

Councillor Patrick Harley, council leader, said: "This has been a very worthwhile exercise in asking people how they want to influence decision-making at Dudley Council."

A woman trying to cross the road had to dive out of the way before Smith swerved to avoid a male pedestrian during the three minute chase.

He lost control and cannoned into the side of another car before running off but was quickly detained.

Panicked

Mr Jamie Scott, defending, said Smith panicked because he knew he would end up in prison if caught for motoring offences again.

The lawyer continued: "Motor vehicles are his Achilles' heel. Until now he has been unable to resist getting behind the wheel of vehicles when disqualified from driving."

Smith, from Uplands Avenue, had been repairing the car on a driveway when asked to move it and had got behind the wheel despite his driving ban.

He admitted dangerous driving, driving while disqualified and having no insurance. He was jailed for 15 months and banned from driving for four years on release from custody by Recorder Robert Spencer-Bernard, who told him: "You have an appalling record."

Aled has audience walking on air

Aled Jones joined the Gentlemen Songsters Male Voice Choir at Dudley Town Hall

CLASSICAL singer, radio and television presenter Aled Jones wowed the audience at Dudley Town Hall when he appeared alongside a male voice choir from the Black Country.

The talented Welshman, who first found fame as a boy soprano more than 30 years ago, performed with the Gentlemen Songsters Male Voice Choir at Dudley Town Hall.

Jones, 40, rose to prominence for his version of 'Walking in the Air', the song from hit Christmas animated film The Snowman.

Charities

He performed with the male voice choir in Dudley on Saturday as part of a night which raised money for the Mayor of Dudley's charities.

Good Morning Britain presenter and former Chronicle reporter Philippa Tomson compared the evening.

Cash raised will go to Councillor Dave Tyler's three chosen charities - Dudley Mind, the YMCA and Dudley Alzheimer's Society.

The 70-strong Gentlemen Songsters, based in Dudley, perform around 20 concerts a year.

Pensions safe, former steel workers told

TRUSTEES of the giant £15bn steel industry pension fund have moved to reassure pensioners they have nothing to fear from the merger of Tata Steel and Thyssenkrupp.

The Black Country's industrial heritage means it is home to thousands of pensioners who worked in the steel industry, including former foundries in Bilston, Halesowen and at Round Oak in Brierley Hill.

They are among 130,000 members nationwide of the British Steel Pension Fund (BSPS), which owns a major stake in Tata Steel UK.

The UK and European arms of Tata Steel will become part of Europe's second biggest steel business, following the start of a merger with German steel giant Thyssenkrupp.

The deal has been able to go ahead after Tata was able to separate itself from the huge pension fund, with estimated liabilities of £15 billion.

The pension deal, called an RAA or regulated apportionment arrangement, was given final approval this month. It will see Tata Steel pay £550 million into the old pension fund, which goes into the UK pensions lifeboat, the Pension Protection Fund.

Fund trustees are being given a one third stake in Tata Steel's UK business. A new pension has been set up for Tata Steel's 8,500 existing UK workers. Steel worker unions agreed.

IN MY VIEW
with Mark Andrews

You can bet Rooney baby won't be a Laura

IT seems people will bet on anything these days. Apparently the bookies are now taking bets on what Wayne and Colleen Rooney's imminent baby will be called. Given that their eldest son is called Kai, which sounds like a budget hatchback from South Korea, and that his little brother is called Klay, your guess is as good as mine. But I will venture that Laura isn't among the frontrunners.

IMAGINE, say, a veteran car club wanted to close 100 miles of road, cutting off vast swathes of the West Midlands for several hours. Or maybe a bunch of steam traction-engine fans. What do you imagine the reaction would be? Exactly.

Indeed, I recall that back in 2005 there was a big hoo-ha about a group of Second World War veterans, who were refused permission to commemorate VE Day by marching a few yards along Stourbridge's Enville. Can't have that, can we? Health and safety and all that.

So how did they manage to shut 100 miles of West Midlands roads off for Sunday's Birmingham Velo "cycling festival"?

Now if I really wanted to take part in a 100-mile bike ride, I think I would head for the coast, not Brum, but each to their own.

Actually, the Birmingham Velo appeared to have very little to do with Birmingham. Instead the organisers commandeered long stretches of Sandwell, Dudley, South Staffordshire and north Worcestershire. Apart from starting and finishing in Brum, the second city appeared to be largely absent from the route.

Look, nobody wants to be killjoys, and if the 19th century transport buffs want a large event to support their hobby, good for them. They should also be congratulated for raising a lot of money for charity.

But closing 100 miles of roads for hours on end, and cutting the region in two, does seem excessive for such a niche activity. And while lip-service may have been paid to "consultation" in the way that local councils do, I bet not many of you remember being asked for your opinions before it was given the go-ahead.

Maybe next time somebody wants to organise a huge event to promote cycling in Birmingham, it might, y'know, actually consider holding it in Birmingham. Then again, they seem to be struggling with emptying the dustbins over there at the moment.

TWO-thirds of students who enrol on Wrexham University's marketing degree course drop out within the first year.

Seems rather strange to me. After all, it looks really good in the publicity material.

'Happiness index' on what influences our wellbeing

Mel Brooks, aged 91, would like to be remembered as 'taller, if possible'

Jean-Claude Juncker – some of us were warning about the destiny of the EU

Dennis Skinner MP – is applauded for sticking to his principles

Forget the money, I just want to sleep

A NEW "happiness index" claims the two things which really influence our health and wellbeing – far in excess of mere money – are sex and sleep. Although not, presumably, at the same time.

A READER draws my attention to an advert for a house for sale. According to the estate agent's blurb, it features "four bedrooms, master dressing area, bathroom and guest WC, no chain."

ON a sentimental trip to childhood haunts, I noticed the old meat-pie factory had vanished. I recall that someone in school knew somebody who worked in the pie factory whose thumb was chopped off in the mincing machine – and they never found it. And the strange thing was that, when you repeated this story, you always found that someone else knew someone who worked in another pie factory and he lost a thumb and it was never found. In the entire history of pie factories, has there ever been one which didn't have its own severed-thumb yarn?

IN an interview Hollywood legend Mel Brooks, 91, was asked how he'd like to be remembered. "Taller, if possible," he replied.

BROOKS laments the fact that a movie such as his 1974 Western spoof, Blazing Saddles, liberally littered with Jewish jokes and the N-word, could not be made today. He says political correctness is the death of comedy. Actually, it's worse than that. Blazing Saddles was not just a comedy. It was a sharp satire on racist attitudes in small-town America and it shone a light in dark places. PC is the enemy not only of comedy but of satire, comment, discussion and progress.

THE BEST OF PETER RHODES

AT London's Hyde Park Corner, a punch-out between Trans-Exclusionary Radical Feminists, or TERFs, and transgender campaigners including a group called SistersUncut. One of those hurt was a "gender critical feminist" who is a trans-woman and a humanist-funerar celebrant. Doesn't life seem awfully quiet out here in the provinces?

I RECENTLY reported the suggestion that owners of draughty houses might be forced to bring them up to modern insulation standards before being allowed to sell them. A reader says this is an issue which affects some of the grandest houses in the land. As he puts it: "Even Chequers has draughts."

CHEQUERS. Draughts. Yes it took a while.

A READER complains glumly about being nicked for speeding in Wales. For the first time in more than 40 years of driving, covering more than a million miles, he has penalty points on his licence. He is philosophical about it but I sympathise. Wales is a happy hunting ground for speed traps hidden in known "hotspots." Some of these are found on the approaches to remote villages where the 30mph limit may extend far into open country. Locals are aware of them but it's easy for outsiders leaving the village to believe the limit no longer applies. A few 30mph repeater signs in these areas would prevent a lot of speeding offences. But that's not the idea is it, boyos? They call it enforcing the law. I call it a tax on visitors.

HINDSIGHT is easy. But some of us were warning about the destiny of the EU long before the latest speech by Jean-Claude Juncker describing his hellish vision of a single-state EU with one president, centralised control of economies, the euro for all member nations and a fully-fledged EU defence union. There is nothing new in this. The choice in last year's referendum was never between Brexit and the EU status quo, because the EU is not standing still. It is moving toward something we want no part of. As I wrote a few days before the referendum: "What keeps me awake at night is the super-state it will become. Brussels has been careful not to use the F-word lately but the old dream of a federal EU, with existing nations reduced to canton-sized units such as Mercia and Catalonia, is still alive and well in the corridors of power. And so, as some British generals and security experts have pointed out, is the EU's old dream of its own armed forces." True then, truer now.

DENNIS Skinner votes against his Labour party on Europe and is applauded for sticking to his principles. Jacob Rees Mogg speaks out against abortion and is applauded for sticking to his principles. Have you noticed how much easier it is to applaud someone's principles when they are exactly the same as your own?

INCIDENTALLY, if you're thinking of emailing me about the German motorist who asked you for directions to Luger-Barooga (Loughborough), it is ancient.

TALKING POINT

No thought control, just leave the kids alone

'BOYS will be boys', or so the Ordinary Boys song goes. And girls will be girls.

And why should they – or their parents – be made to feel bad because they have slipped into 'gender stereotypes'?

There are people who would have us worry about this. So much so that not only are there action groups to prevent our little ones being led by misguided parents into this gender trap but now leading retailers have stepped in.

At the forefront of this 'gender neutral' drive is High Street giant John Lewis. The store is no longer restricting children by giving them labels – clothes labels that is. From now on their clothes will not be divided along gender lines and labels will read 'girls and boys' or 'boys and girls'.

It is also introducing a new neutral collection for boys and girls. A spokeswoman said they did not want to 'reinforce gender stereotypes'.

Have they not noticed that a lot of our teenagers are already wearing gender neutral clothes, baggy t-shirts and sports wear with trainers a prerequisite!

Meanwhile a school in east Sussex has changed its uniform policy so all new Year 7 students must wear trousers. The headmaster said pupils had been questioning why boys had different uniform to girls so they decided to have the same.

What message does that send to the young girls? Why should girls have to look like boys? I notice they didn't decide that everyone should wear skirts.

Action group, Let Clothes be Clothes, has been set up to persuade UK retailers to rethink how they market children's clothing.

As a new, impressionable and nervous mother I absorbed such rhetoric on 'good parenting' like a sponge.

Included in my son's sizeable toy box was a toy cleaning trolley while my daughter was taken to football and dressed in cool denim.

Naturally she also wore some of my son's hand-me downs, like generations before me. Maybe we have always been gender neutral we just didn't shout about it.

So does my now teenage son ever pick up the Hoover? Not likely! He likes action films, enjoys sports and mostly wears black. While my daughter, despite my best efforts, threw herself into pink, fluffy and Disney for many years.

So do I feel like I have failed? I most certainly do not. I am proud of the individuals my children have grown up to be.

In the words of Pink Floyd: 'We don't need no thought control . . . Leave them kids alone!'

Quite right to feel grumpy over Velo

DAVID Viner, in The Chronicle, encouraged us to go out and cheer on the Velo Birmingham riders and suggested that the event would bring many positive benefits to the region and no-one should be grumpy about it.

This shows the classic arrogance of those who believe that, because they claim they are pursuing their chosen pastime in aid of charity, it justifies spoiling the enjoyment of a vastly larger number of people whose own plans for the day are disrupted.

Of course Birmingham Council supported this event because they suffered minimal road closures and gained lots of revenue from the entrants but it was left to the rest of us in the Black Country, Staffordshire and Worcestershire to suffer the major disruption.

I would be interested to know how the money which has been raised for charities compares with the cost of organising the event, even before taking into account the substantial losses incurred by traders prevented from carrying out their businesses and those forced to travel huge additional distances to escape from the ring of road closures around the Black Country. This included front-line NHS workers attempting to reach their jobs at the Queen Elizabeth Hospital, which is one of the charities the event is supposed to support.

Anyone who wanted to visit friends or relatives to the east, west or south of the Black Country or spend the day in Kinver, Stourport, Bewdley or at the Malvern Autumn how had no chance of doing so. This is in addition to a number of sporting events and children's parties which had to be cancelled.

All this because a bunch of people wanted to go for a ride on their bicycles. I think there are an awful lot of people who have a perfect right to feel grumpy. It has also been commented that it was 'only for one day'. BEWARE, the organisers are already saying that they want to make this an annual event.

Cyclists can dress to be better seen

AFTER an accident in which a woman lost her life, the argument about cars and cyclists has reared its head again. It seems as if the advice being given out is for motorists to take care when opening their car doors.

But what about the cyclists?

Each week, when we are making our way to do our shopping, we pass a group of middle aged to elderly cyclists at Summerhill, near Kingswinford. Most are wearing black. Why wear black cycling bottoms or shorts? Black clothing with reflective stripes is, in my opinion, useless. The first view of a cyclist to following vehicles is the part of the body on the saddle - black?

And do not forget helmets. The head hits the ground hard when you fall off a bike.

Moving museum and gallery is a mistake

WHATEVER planet is Dudley Council on?

They want to transform Dudley town to the tune of £41 million, but why bother when they ripped part of the heart out of this very same town when they closed the museum and art gallery?

By moving this attraction to the new archives in Tipton Road they deprived local people of a very much-loved facility.

This seemed another ploy to move the 'town centre' to another area, just as they seem to claim Merry Hill belongs to Brierley Hill. I really don't get it.

Thanks for support at pub event

COULD we just say a very big thank you to everyone who attended our fun day at The Crown, Oldswinford, held on August Bank Holiday Sunday in aid of the Mary Stevens Hospice.

This is our thirteenth year of holding the event and we broke all records, raising nearly £30,000 for this worthy charity.

In total, your contributions have raised around £150,000 since we started the fundraising and for that we can't thank you enough.

We would also like to thank you to all of the neighbours of the pub for their patience and understanding on what can be quite a noisy occasion.

All we do is for a very worthy cause and we really appreciate your support.

FIVE MINUTES FROM MERRY HILL

Arnie says 'I'll be bake' for cake better than Hollywood

AB Cakes owner Paz Heer, and cakemaker Nune Paruryan

IT takes a lot to impress Hollywood legend Arnold Schwarzenegger – but cakemaker extraordinaire Paz Heer did just that.

The cakemaker from Wolverhampton-based AB Cakes produced a Predator-based cake for the A-listers' visit to Birmingham. And Schwarzenegger, the star of the Predator movie, was so taken with the impressive cake that he told Mr Heer he had 'outdone Hollywood'.

Mr Heer, aged 36, from Essington

Report by Fiona Smith

has previously designed cakes for stars including Floyd Mayweather, Anthony Joshua and Eddie Hall.

The movie Predator was chosen as the theme for Arnie's visit to Birmingham, and also Leeds, to mark it being released 30 years ago.

Mr Heer said: "As soon as I got the confirmation I was doing the cake I watched it again for research – I knew I had to come up with something different."

He spent five days slaving over the cake after redesigning it 'five or six' times. He said he had to turn away other business in order to get it finished on time.

The design was a mix of sponge tiers, icing and also a Predator mask. It included UV blood, a mistmaker and lasers for a stunning effect.

Mr Heer added: "I must have watched it 10 times in my life and I've grown up with [Schwarzenegger]. He's just an inspiration and meeting him was so cool."

Seventy-year-old Schwarzenegger appeared before 1,000 people at the Hilton Birmingham Metropole last week for an Experience With event. In his hour-long chat, hosted by presenter Charlie Webster, the Austrian-born actor told of his rags to riches story from his beginnings as a body building champion to Hollywood actor and of course, his time as Governor of California.

Tickets for the black tie dinner event were on sale for between £145 and £375. However, there were some a small number of tickets available at £499 (or £749 for two people) for those who wanted a handshake and a photograph with the actor. And 20 people could pay £999 for a meet-and-greet chat with the star as well as the photograph at the end of the night.

He told the audience how filming Predator took its toll on him with the 100F heat in the Mexican jungle and how he eventually ended up in hospital. At the end of the night Arnie was given a machete to cut the Predator cake.

Birmingham was one of just two UK dates, the other being in Leeds. It is the second time Arnie has been in Birmingham having appeared at the ICC in January last year. Regarding a third visit, he did promise British fans 'I'll be back!'

Fatal crash sparks probe by council

A THREE-VEHICLE crash which killed a woman in Dudley has sparked an investigation by council bosses over road safety.

Vikki Jones, aged 30, died at the scene of the three-car smash in Wood Road, Lower Gornal, on Friday night. An 11-year-old girl, believed to be her daughter, was taken to hospital with arm injuries.

The fatal accident, which took place close to Ms Jones' home, has sparked anger from residents who claim their calls for traffic calming measures have been ignored. Dudley Council says it is now investigating.

Councillor Karen Shakespeare, cabinet member for environmental services, said: "Our thoughts are with the family of the woman who lost her life."

"The circumstances of the accident are currently being investigated by police, however, as with all serious traffic incidents we will be carrying out our own investigation."

Detective Sergeant Paul Hughes said: "We are trying to establish exactly what happened, and are appealing to anyone who witnessed the collision, and hasn't yet spoken to us, to contact us."

A 21-year-old man arrested on suspicion of causing death by dangerous driving was released on police bail.

Design award for jewellery graduate

A GRADUATE from Birmingham City University's school of jewellery has won a design award.

Sophie Lomax, aged 27, won Professional Jeweller's young jewellery designer of the year after she impressed judges with her designs, including a Valentine's range for 77 Diamonds. She graduated in 2012.

Big smiles as the fundraisers get ready for Neon Night Run in aid of Mary Stevens Hospice at Himley

Here we glow – Neon Night is lights fantastic

SCORES of neon-clad fundraisers completed a fun run in Himley Park for charity.

Hundreds of people took on the 5km Neon Night Run on Friday to raise cash for Mary Stevens Hospice.

Hospice chiefs are hoping to repeat or better the success of last year's run, which raised more than £25,000.

A statement said: "The Neon Night Run was beyond anything we can put into words, and we'll be doing all the big thank yous and letting you know how much you wonderful people raised next week as soon as we can."

Charlotte Schofield, Head of Fundraising and Lottery at Mary Stevens Hospice, added: "Neon is just one of those infectious events that puts a smile on your face just thinking about it."

"Watching so many people come together, dressed in the wackiest and most wonderful outfits they can find, dancing and having fun for hours on end with their friends and loved ones is such a special thing to be a part of."

Difference

"Then, when it's all over and everyone has gone home, the legacy they leave through the money they've raised will make the most incredible difference to the families relying on our care."

"That care is only possible because of the amazing people who come to the events like Neon, so we'd like to say thank you to everyone who made this event so wonderful once again."

Immediately following the event, revellers took to social media to praise the hospice for the evening and share their stories.

Laura Fellows, Neon Night Run participant, said on Facebook: "Thank you for an amazing night, you are all truly wonderful people. You looked after my Dad with the most unbelievable care and compassion at what was a terrible time. Can't thank you all enough."

Lucy Mahoney, Neon Night Run participant, added: "Had a fantastic time tonight helping to raise money for a very worthy cause, here's to next year's Neon Night Run!"

To find out more about other upcoming events for the Mary Stevens Hospice, visit www.marystevenshospice.co.uk/events.

The Neon Night Run raised more than £25,000 in its debut year last year, and the final total for 2017 will be announced once all sponsorship monies have been collected and counted.

Peaky Blinders returns to TV

THE fourth series of Birmingham-set 1920s gangster drama Peaky Blinders returns to BBC TV next month.

Filming began for the new season in March when star Cillian Murphy, who plays Tommy Shelby, was spotted on set at the Black Country Living Museum.

Joining him is Charlotte Riley, who plays aristocratic widow May Carleton and the production will also include the return of Tom Hardy, who is Charlotte Riley's real life husband.

Also in the new series will be top actors Adrien Brody and Game of Thrones star Aiden Gillen, who played 'Littlefinger' in the fantasy blockbuster

Council has brought back 29 of its redundant staff

ONE in 12 council workers who were made redundant over a two-year period at a Black Country authority were later re-hired.

A total of 29 members of staff were brought back to either work part-time or full-time at Dudley Council, despite having received redundancy pay-offs.

One worker received a pay-off of more than £60,000 only then to be brought back on a casual basis. Two others received redundancy packages of more than £30,000 and nine workers got more than £20,000.

Six of the workers returned to authority within just three months of leaving.

Of the 29 who returned to the authority after losing their jobs, 17 were given permanent roles while 12 came back on a casual basis.

A report showed one worker who received a salary of £38,400 was given £26,500 in redundancy money before then returning with a salary of £27,100. Another who was paid £31,900 received £23,600 redundancy package before returning three months later on a wage of £13,200.

Dudley Council made 326 staff redundant between 2014 and 2016 as it was hit hard by budget cuts.

The authority said it was the role that was made redundant rather than the employee, and some were offered the chance to return when circumstances changed.

Car vandals go on the rampage

DOZENS of cars were vandalised during a 12-hour crime spree in a Black Country borough which left a 'trail of destruction'.

Vandals smashed up 32 vehicles with a baseball bat whilst driving through streets in the Tipton and Brandhall areas of Sandwell.

Police chiefs have condemned the 'terrible incident' and are appealing for help to trace the suspects who are still at large.

It comes as reports came from the community about similar vandalism that has taken place in recent weeks - with one car being torched. The incident took place between 7pm on September 18 and 7am the following day.

Sandwell's Safer 6 campaign returns

Firefighter Alan Malpass with Rhys Thomas, 5, from Cradley

A CRIME campaign launched with an action-packed open day for all the family at a fire station in the Black Country.

Sandwell's autumn Safer 6 campaign is all about partner organisations targeting their efforts and providing extra reassurance during the darker nights, fireworks and bonfire season - a time when crime and anti-social behaviour can rise.

The Safer Sandwell Partnership campaign, now in its eighth year, runs for six weeks and includes a focus week for each of the six towns in the borough.

Mayor of Sandwell Councillor Ahmadul Haque MBE officially launched the campaign at a special open day at Haden Cross Fire Station in Halesowen on Saturday.

Visitors were able to get crime prevention advice from West Midlands Police and Sandwell Crime Prevention Panel, watch a chip pan fire demonstration by West Midlands Fire Service and check out Sandwell Council's Youth Bus promoting young people's services.

There was also music from Black Country Radio and displays on how to get fit and active with Sandwell Leisure Trust. Attractions included face painting, a bouncy castle, dance, a raffle, refreshments and much more.

Each town, from Oldbury to West Bromwich, will have a focus week during the campaign.

The fire service's Jason Jew said: "This campaign is all about working together."

Links between school and firm are praised

A BLACK Country school has been working in collaboration with a construction company to forge a path for young people with learning disabilities.

The Westminster School, in Rowley Regis, has worked with the Supported Internship Programme at Interserve as part of a pilot to identify roles where students who attend the school would be able to work.

They identified roles in Facilities Services throughout the Building Schools for the Future (BSF) programme in Sandwell. Two pupils who were successful, as part of the internship pilot in 2016/2017 and have been offered a Supported Apprenticeship with Interserve as part of a national Department for Education (DfE) Pacesetter pilot.

Hundreds at funeral of stabbing victim Ryan, 24

HUNDREDS of mourners gathered for the funeral of popular local footballer Ryan Passey, who was stabbed to death in a Stourbridge night-club.

The 24-year-old's funeral was held at St James Church in Wollaston on Friday.

Family, friends and former teammates from Wrens Nest and Stourbridge Athletics football clubs carried his coffin into the church. The casket was draped with a Stourbridge Athletic shirt, while other football shirts lined the entrance to the church.

The hour-long service was led by Rev Nick Kaleniuk, who read out tributes from friends and family.

Songs

Pictures from Ryan's life were displayed on a big screen inside the church as songs were played that had been selected by his best friend Jordan Poole, his father Mark Poole, Ryan's mother and father Gill Taylor and Ade Passey, and step-father Phil Taylor.

Lukas Graham's song Funeral opened the service as people filled the church. The acoustic version of Charlie Puth's See You Again was played to pictures of Ryan and Jordan's nights out and holidays abroad.

Mr Poole, who had known Ryan since they were four, tearfully spoke about their bond. He said: "I always thought the day I would be standing and speaking about Ryan would be at his wedding. We rarely spent a day apart. He played football how he lived his life with passion, loyalty and care for the people around him. In the future my children will know everything about him. You were my brother, my best friend, my hero, Ryan."

Sam Smith's Lay Me Down was played as family pictures of Ryan growing up were shown, while a video of Ryan and Jordan singing 'every little thing gonna be all right' from Three Little Birds by Bob Marley was played at the end of the service.

Family members went on to Stourbridge Crematorium, while others headed to the Raven pub in Brierley Hill to raise a glass in his memory.

Ryan, from Quarry Bank, died after being stabbed at Chicago's nightclub in the town centre.

Kobe Murray, aged 19, of The Broadway, Dudley, has pleaded not guilty to murder and is due to stand trial in January.

Brum's big wheel and rink get cold shoulder

TWO major festive tourist attractions will not be heading to Birmingham this year, council chiefs have confirmed.

The big wheel and ice rink, which are normally set up outside Birmingham Rep in Centenary Square, have been cancelled. This is a result of the ongoing £10 million re-vamp of the square, means no space for the Christmas events.

Bosses have been unable to find an alternative site for the attractions in the city centre.

A Birmingham City Council spokesman said: "Because of the major refurbishment of Centenary Square, both officers and the operator have been unable to find an alternative site large enough to accommodate the ice rink and big wheel."

The wheel offered spectacular views over the city.

Work on the Centenary Square project is not due to be finished until next summer. It will have a pool with water jets installed and will also be able to host major events with 43 'lighting columns' illuminating the area at night.

The German Market - which attracts thousands of visitors to the city centre every year - will go ahead as usual in Victoria Square and down New Street from November 16 to Christmas Eve.

Double bill tour will be Wonder-ful Stuff!

Two Brum gigs for Jonn Penney, left, and Miles Hunt

IT'S been 27 years since two of Stourbridge's finest bands - The Wonder Stuff and Ned's Atomic Dustbin - shared a stage, but they will be appearing together in a double-head-line tour in 2018.

The tour celebrating the days when Stourbridge was mentioned in the same breath as Manchester and Liverpool for its thriving music scene will include two consecutive nights at Birmingham's O2 Academy on April 14 and 15.

The two bands grew up alongside one another and their first ever live show together was on The Wonder Stuff's Disco King tour at the long-gone Hummingbird venue in Birmingham.

To celebrate this reunion both bands sold a limited number of tickets at 1990 prices of just £7.

With a career spanning more than three decades, The Wonder Stuff have sold millions of albums worldwide with eight studio releases to date. They had hit singles Size Of A Cow and, with comedian Vic Reeves, a cover of Dizzy. The band, fronted by Miles Hunt, continue to record and tour.

Formed 30 years ago, Ned's Atomic Dustbin quickly gained a huge fan base after those initial shows with The Wonder Stuff and shot straight to number one in the indie singles chart in July 1990 with Kill Your Television. The Neds, fronted by Jonn Penney, saw their first Sony single Happy storm into the Top 20 and their debut album, God Fodder, went top five as well as achieving success in the USA with the band also gaining a cult following in Japan.

Joining them will be DJ Graham Crabb from Pop Will Eat Itself, another band from the Stourbridge scene. Tickets £30 will be available from tomorrow (Friday) at 9am via ticketmaster.

Football tournament scores more cash

THE organisers of a historic amateur football competition have handed over £10,000 to Beacon Centre for the Blind.

The JW Hunt Cup has run every season since 1926 and has raised more than £330,000 for the charity over the years.

It features clubs from across the West Midlands and each year the final is held at Molineux. Alex Hamil MBE, cup president, said: "We are delighted to be able to present this cheque for £10,000 to the Beacon Centre. Beacon is a charity very close to our hearts.

"We are very proud to have been supporting the same, incredibly worthwhile charity for 91 years."

Gary Moulder, head of finance at Beacon, added: "We are incredibly grateful for the ongoing support from the JW Hunt Cup. Without their support we would not be able to provide the services and care that local people living with sight loss have come to depend on."

Cyclist deaths and injuries fall by fifth after police blitz

THE number of cyclists killed or seriously injured on West Midlands roads has dropped by a fifth over the last year.

This follows an initiative by police to protect cyclists from dangerous overtaking.

Operation Close Pass was the idea of West Midlands Police who investigated low-cost ways of preventing collisions caused by motorists driving too close to cyclists.

They were the first force in the country to use undercover officers in plain clothes to look out for dangerous activity in this area.

Helmet

Dashcam and helmet footage from the public is also passed to officers to help convict the worst offenders.

Since the operation was launched last year, there has been a 20 per cent reduction in cyclists killed or seriously injured on the roads.

More than 175 drivers were pulled over and given a lesson in safe overtaking and 350 prosecutions were made using video evidence from the public. Also, police cyclists radio details of 'close-pass' drivers for colleagues to pull over.

Soul star Jaki leads diversity celebration

SOUL star Jaki Graham is to lead a weekend celebration of diversity. The singer will headline the Wolverhampton Black History Month launch event tomorrow (Friday), before appearing as one of the star performers at Wolves Pride the following day.

Wolves Pride is the largest event of its kind in the city's history. It will take place from noon to 9pm on Wulfruna Street, the Civic Centre ceremonial car park, St Peter's car park and the pedestrian area outside the University's Ambika Paul building.

The sell-out Black History Month lunch event at the Arena Theatre will feature a hot African-Caribbean buffet before a series of talks and performances. It is the start of a four-week celebration of black history.

Stay independent with help to get your home adapted

Commercial feature

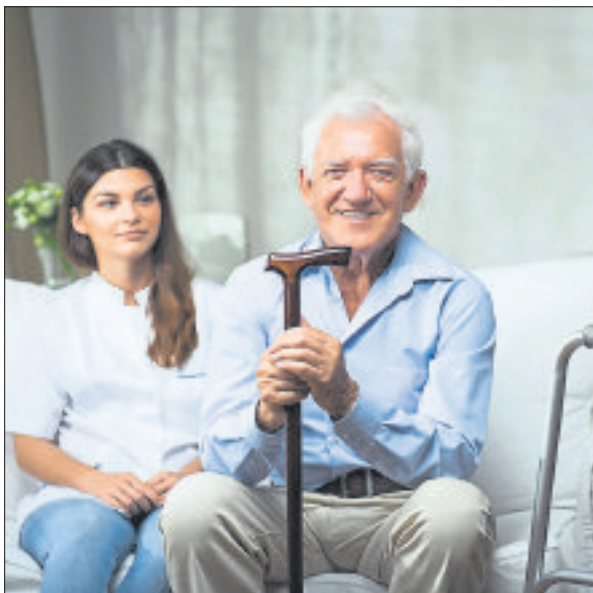

Dudley Council is offering help to Dudley borough residents who need to adapt their homes to better meet their needs.

Anyone who is struggling with daily life in their home can ask for help. If a member of the household of any age is having difficulties bathing, getting upstairs, even getting into the home, help is on offer to adapt the property to better meet these needs.

Dudley Home Improvement Service, part of Dudley Council, offers the adaptations package. Grants are available to pay for adaptations, along with an adaptations package of advice and practical support. This consists of an expert recommendation, support to design and build the adaptation from technical officers and council approved builders. All work is overseen by the council, so there is no hassle and no stress to people.

Home adaptations for independence are available to people who own their own homes or are private rental tenants. Council tenants can already request adaptations to their homes through the council. The aim is to help people stay independent in their homes. Typical adaptations include handrails, stair rails, ramps, level access showers, stair lifts, through-the-floor lifts, even home extensions to provide extra sleeping or bathing facilities.

An initial assessment by an occupational therapist will take place and this will establish the type of adaptation needed to suit a person's needs and to help them stay independent and safe in their home.

The service offers adaptations to people of any age. Full grant funding is always provided for adaptations needed for children under 18.

household who is struggling should ask for help from the adaptations service. Lots of support is on offer, along with grant funding to pay for home adaptations for many people. It's all about keeping people safe and independent in their homes and making life more liveable."

Don't throw away the collectibles of the future!

ANTIQUES AND COLLECTIBLES

with John Ridgway of Perry & Phillips

EVERY time we throw away branded packets, tins and bottles we are potentially destroying the collectable items of the future!

Not that I'm suggesting you start hoarding litter – but if our ancestors had only known the value of old pots and bottles in the future they might have kept a few more for their descendants.

Vintage branded tins, bottles, pots, jars and so on are all snapped up today for display around the home.

You can find all kinds of old bottles to display in a kitchen, from those originally containing ginger beer, Coca Cola and mineral water to others made for beer, whiskey and gin – all look great displayed either individually or grouped together.

It is easy to track down some really nice old biscuit tins made by the likes of Huntley & Palmer, tea tins produced by Taylors of Harrogate, cocoa tins by Rowntree, chocolate tins by Cadbury and even old Oxo tins given to soldiers in the first World War.

Little pottery jugs made for cream are also perfect for a kitchen shelf, as are those delightful flour containers made in the shape of little bowler-hatted men by Homepride – they have become hugely collectable.

Look out for old toothpaste jars for a bathroom, plus chemists' bottles which again look good displayed together (just make sure they are empty, you don't want any unpleasant Victorian substances lurking around!).

Of course there are many reproductions of all of the items mentioned so if you are looking for the genuine article check for real signs of wear and tear before you buy.

Authentic pieces will often show signs of use as they won't have been considered as being of any value by their original owners.

And some of them will have been discovered in unusual places like old rubbish tips but don't worry, they will have been thoroughly cleaned prior to sale!

Perry and Phillips hold valuation days, for sale items only, every Wednesday from 10am until 4pm.

The next Perry and Phillips sale of antiques and collectables takes place at the Mill Street saleroom on Tuesday, October 3. Viewing will be during the weekend and on Monday and also from 10am on auction day. New sale bidders are advised to attend the saleroom early on auction day to register and be allocated a bidding number. Perry & Phillips hold sales on the first Tuesday of every other month.

From weddings to Ascot – hats for all occasions

Outlandish hats appear at the races

HATS and fascinators are becoming more and more popular to wear at weddings.

There is plenty of choice. The trends evolve and change constantly, there are no runway shows to predict the next new style or even multiple photos of celebrities wearing the newest look.

Milliners get their ideas from many origins, they look at the clothing shown on the world-wide catwalks and from historical sources such as films and books and then create inspirational and artistic pieces that can be teamed with the hottest clothing designs in the shops.

They are inventors of beautiful creations. The top clothing designers often commission specialist pieces to complement their contemporary designs.

Horse racing festivals and royal garden parties command the wearing of incredible headwear. The magazines and newspapers include photos of the quirky, comical and downright ridiculous.

The great thing about hats is that we can all be a little more adventurous when dressing for a special occasion and most of us love

STYLE FOCUS

with Janet Timmis

an excuse to dress up. As with clothing suiting a particular body shape, certain headwear styles will suit different shaped faces, some people just do not suit hats but the choice of head trimmings and sculptures allow everyone to complete their outfit with a jaunty titter!

The autumn/winter 2017 emerging styles and millinery trends will be halos, beautiful smooth circles of colour, crowns sat above neat hairstyles and 1920s era turbans and headwraps in sumptuous silks, satins and sculptured ribbons.

The crown has been popular over the last few seasons and this year they will be bigger and more ornate than recently seen, wire-work, feathers, beading and floral creations. These ideas will also relate to bridal headwear, sumptuous pearl and diamante works of art sat above floating tulle veiling.

Hollywood glamour will be back, vintage veiling and net covering the face, simplicity teamed with elaborate trimming. In the 1940s and 1950s hats would be worn in the daytime and evening to complete a look, the accessories an integral part of the overall outfit.

The department stores no longer offer the choice they have previously displayed.

There is a company in Stafford called Get Ahead Hats, headwear to match any outfit and Jape at Trentham Gardens shopping village has a range of quirky and colourful designs to suit any occasion.

Check out the charity shops as well, they often have fascinators that have been worn once only. Hats, bags and shoes can add a touch of something special to any outfit, or as a splash of bright colour to enhance a neutral ensemble.

For your next celebration, be inspired, be brave, be elaborate and wear something wonderful on your head.

Prescription drugs spilling from a bottle

If you're having two bottles of wine five nights a week, your 'monster' is the wine monster

New self help approach to overcoming addiction

Dr Hugh Quigley's new book

IF YOU enjoy a few glasses of wine or more every night, and believe you can't relax without them, you could be addicted.

Similarly, if you smoke cannabis or take other drugs regularly, and feel you actually need to take them to feel good or even just OK – these are all signs you may be dependent on them.

It's no secret that addiction's can be tough to beat – but there are lots of support resources out there, and anyone who's worried about addictive behaviours should speak to their GP, as a first port of call. Addiction expert Dr Hugh Quigley has devised a new self-help approach, that sees addictive thinking as a 'monster', which you'll effectively need to 'starve' in order to overcome.

Counsellor and psychotherapist Quigley explains his theory in his new book, Starve The Monster: A Powerful Process To Kill Your Addiction Thinking, targeted at professional people who think their substance abuse is getting out of hand.

The process aims to make it easier for people to identify what's going on in their addicted mind. "They begin to understand they've given control over to something inside of their own mind, which we call the monster," says Quigley.

The monster might make you think, 'I can't relax without a bottle of wine', but Quigley explains: "That is the addiction thinking. The addiction - the monster, whatever you want to call it, convinces the person that without the substance, they cannot function properly." People usually start using small amounts, and then ever-increasing amounts - until they get to a point where their body can't function without the substance, he notes.

By Lisa Salmon

How to starve the monster
The process has five stages...

1. Name the monster

"The first step is naming the monster, knowing that this monster, this alcohol, drug, whatever monster, is controlling you to a certain extent," says Quigley, who struggled with alcohol himself as a young adult. So if you're having two bottles of wine five nights a week, your monster is the wine monster.

2. Externalise the monster

The substance that has control over you is external - it's something you go and buy, from the supermarket if it's wine or whisky, or a pharmacist or drug dealer if it's a drug. The idea, says Quigley, is to watch the behaviours of the monster and how it subtly communicates that it wants.

3. Understanding monster talk

How does your monster speak to you? Is there something the monster will use inside your head to persuade you to get the substance and feed it? It could simply be boredom, stress, or an unresolved trauma, for example.

Quigley says: "Despair, hopelessness, powerlessness, all of these things, whatever it is you choose to run as a thought and as a feeling is what feeds the monster. You can call it negativity if you want, I just call it food for the monster."

Part of this process is the addicted person rationalising their actions, perhaps thinking that just nipping out to buy a few bottles of wine 'won't do any harm'. "The monster will use any excuse," Quigley explains.

4. Recognising monster speak

The fourth step is where the process is consolidated, and you start to recognise 'monster speak' and possibly react differently to it. "This is where the steps all start to come together," says Quigley, "where you know it's the monster speaking, and maybe do something different."

5. Starving the monster

If you successfully navigate the first four steps, you're at the point where you're starving the monster. "The monster is getting smaller," says Quigley. "It does diminish because you're not feeding it. If you don't feed something, it fades away."

Quigley warns that for the first three days after stopping your substance misuse, you may feel terrible. But after that, the body begins to come back to a clear state of balance, and you'll feel much better. But be warned that during those three days, the monster will do its best to convince you that you'll feel a lot better if you feed it again.

Don't listen to it!

Ruth: The Grand is a spiritual home

She's as breathless as a 21-year-old featuring in her first production. Yet Ruth Madoc is one of the most seasoned performers in theatre – a star who played alongside Richard Burton, Elizabeth Taylor and Peter O'Toole before becoming a household name through TV's Hi-de-Hi!

She's back on the road in a new production of The Wedding Singer, which features at Wolverhampton's Grand Theatre from Tuesday until October 7. It's 1985. Hair is huge, greed is good and rock-star wannabe Robbie Hart is New Jersey's favourite wedding singer. When his own fiancée dumps him at the altar a seriously bummed out Robbie makes every wedding as disastrous as his own. The hilarious effects play out in The Wedding Singer.

Ruth loves the show: "It's fantastic. It's a really good high-octane piece. There's no cynicism. It's absolutely lovely. The audience can sit down and enjoy the beat as well as enjoying the love story. It's very simple but very well done."

The Wedding Singer stars Jon Robyns, best known for Avenue Q, Legally Blonde.

QUICKLY

Sweet-natured Julia, (Cassie Compton: X Factor) and her best friend Holly try to lure Robbie out of the dumpster and back into the limelight?

But if he doesn't act quickly, she might head off down the aisle with Wall Street bad boy Glenn (Ray Quinn: X Factor, Dancing On Ice)? However, Grandma Rosie (Ruth) seems to be able to see that Robbie and Julia are the couple that are meant to be.

Ruth adds: "It's a blast. We started it in February and are slowly coming towards the end. We played Shrewsbury earlier this month and I enjoyed that because I'd never played it. Then we've got the Grand, in Wolverhampton, which I've played many times. I've done all sorts of different things. You name it I've done it. I did Under Milkwood when the theatre was privately owned. The lady that owned it owned the Phoenix in London and a theatre in Morecombe. That was 1965/66. I'm really looking forward to it. It's like a spiritual home."

Ruth hits the road with her husband at the start of a production and doesn't look back.

"It's a bit like being a gypsy. We put everything in the back of the Santa Fe and just keep going. We're well into our 70s and my husband and I are like two old kippers in a box."

She enjoys lining up with new stars who are gradually carving out a career. "I'm literally old enough to be their grandmother. But the cast are very good, they never leave me out just because I'm older. If they're going out socially they always include us."

On a song – Ruth Madoc (right) stars in The Wedding Singer

I think that's what I like about this show. And the production itself is brilliant. The dancing is just marvellous and the choreography is amazing. I still get an enormous thrill from just looking at the side of the stage and watching it."

Ruth has a remarkable CV. And she's continually re-remembering things that she's done in the past. "Funny enough one of the guys said to me in the cast last night, what did I love? He'd recorded something on Film Four."

It was a film I did with Jonathan Pryce and I'd forgotten I'd done it. It became a cult that. That was amazing. There's been other stuff over the years, like the film of Fiddler and the film of Under Milkwood with Richard Burton, which was amazing. I was in the original."

She still purrs affectionately when she remembers working with the great Richard Burton.

"He was fabulous. He was absolutely

The audience can enjoy the beat as well as enjoying the love story super to work with. He didn't keep himself to himself, he mixed with the rest of us. There were all sorts in that: Tim Healy, Liz Taylor and Peter O'Toole."

TV, film and theatre have been the mainstays of her career – and she's loved them all. "I have enjoyed TV and stage equally. I love the stage but I love TV and film too. I like it all. I'm greedy."

And yet she's invariably linked with her portrayal of Gladys Pugh, in Hi-de-Hi. It's a role that has never left her – and she's grateful for that. A more recent role, in Little Britain, has also followed her around.

"I'll never get rid of Gladys but I loved playing her. As for Little Britain, well, that was offered to me but when I saw the script, my husband said 'no, it's rude'."

"So I sent it my son and he read it and he asked if I'd ever seen it. He told me I'd get street cred for doing it, so I went for it and here we are."

Beverley Knight in panto mode

Bev can't wait to weave her panto magic in Brum

SOUL singer Beverley Knight is making her pantomime debut at Birmingham Hippodrome – and can't wait to thrill audiences including family and friends

The singer and West End star will take her panto bow as the Fairy Godmother in Cinderella, alongside Emmerdale, Dancing on Ice and Hear'Say star Suzanne Shaw, comic and Hippodrome panto regular Matt Slack and comedy duo Ceri Dupree and Phil Randall, who will play the Ugly Sisters.

Beverley, from Wolverhampton, said: "I can't wait. My mum and the whole crew will probably be here for the first night. All the ingredients are right. I'll be home for Christmas and it's the UK's biggest pantomime. I couldn't say no."

Beverley saw her first panto at Wolverhampton's Grand Theatre. That, as well as amateur dramatics in Wolverhampton and at Highfields School, set her on her showbiz path to R&B/pop stardom and leading lady in the West End. Now she was looking forward to adding another string to her bow.

"I'm very excited. I love coming back to this part of the world, whether it's the Civic Hall or Symphony Hall or the Hippodrome."

Music fans can catch Beverley in her more familiar role when she brings her rescheduled I Love Soulsville tour to Birmingham Symphony Hall on October 8.

Lorde above it's a busy week of gigs

POP star Lorde was an instant success at the age of 16 with her debut album Pure Heroine and her breakthrough hit single Royals in 2013.

Royals topped the singles chart on both sides of the Atlantic and the album hit the no1 spot in more than 20 countries, winning her two Grammy Awards.

The New Zealander, whose actual name is Ella Marija Lani Yelich-O'Connor, provided the lead single, Yellow Flicker Beat, for the soundtrack to The Hunger Games: Mockingjay Part 1 in 2014.

She's back with second album Melodrama and hit tracks Green Light and Perfect Places. Her latest song, Homemade Dynamite, features a remix with Post Malone, SZA and, her tour show opener, Khalid. The Kiwi pop sensation, pictured, will be in concert for a full house at Birmingham O2 Academy on Sunday.

The Superskas are at the Newhampton Arts Centre in Wolverhampton tomorrow night (Friday). Nashville psych-rock outfit All Them Witches play Digbeth's O2 Institute 3 on Saturday, when DJ Shadow plays its main room and New Found Glory the O2 Academy.

Sharleen Spiteri brings Texas to Symphony Hall on Sunday. The Kentucky Headhunters bring southern rock to Robin 2 Bilston on Monday. London hip-hop artist Loyle Carner is at the O2 Institute Tuesday. On Wednesday Martin Turner from Wishbone Ash is at the Robin 2, while Ireland's The Strypes rock O2 Academy. Former Moody Blues frontman Justin Hayward is at Birmingham Town Hall next Thursday. Squeeze play Symphony Hall next Friday and Saturday with 9 Below Zero, while trio Arcane Roots top a triple bill at Wolverhampton Slade Rooms next Friday.

Dan and Jess in concert together

Singer-songwriter Dan Whitehouse, from Wolverhampton, is touring with folk/roots balladeer Jess Morgan including a gig in Edgbaston next Friday, October 6. Always look on bright side of Spamalot

There's a lot of Spamalot about over the next few weeks and that will get Monty Python fans looking on the bright side of life. Two productions of the hit musical by former Python (and former Wolverhampton schoolboy) Eric Idle will be vying for audiences in Birmingham and Wolverhampton. A new touring production of the show 'lovingly ripped-off from Monty Python and the Holy Grail' will be bringing killer rabbits and knights that say 'Ni!' to Birmingham's New Alexandra Theatre from Tuesday to the following Saturday, October 7. Then, at Wolverhampton Grand Theatre October 10 to 14, South Staffs Operatic Company present their version with sometime Fizzog James Collins as up-pun servant Patsy. Sisters Natasha Bennett-Ince and Lexie Bennett will share the role of the Lady of the Lake.

Stop All the Clocks: WH Auden in an Age of Anxiety (BBC2, 9pm)
In 1982, documentary maker Adam Low directed The Auden Landscape, the first filmic portrait of WH Auden to come in the wake of his death in 1973. Now, 35 years later, Low turns his focus back to Auden, to identify how the poet, who began as an emerging star of the literary scene of 1930s Britain, came to create verses that would resonate as well in the 21st century as they did in the 20th. Auden's work enjoyed a surge of popularity following its application to a poignant scene in Four Weddings and a Funeral, and a poem with which he had a particularly troubled relationship became an anthem of grief for the people of New York following the 9/11 terror attacks.

FANTASTIC CARVERY 7 DAYS A WEEK

They always say never judge a book by its cover so we decided to check out The Park Lane Tavern in Colley Gate, and I have to say what was on offer in there was a total surprise.

It serves a carvery option 7 days a week from midday which consists of a choice of 4 meats, turkey, beef, pork and gammon and accompanied by stuffing, Yorkshire puddings and up to 12 vegetables, topped off with what they call their "secret recipe gravy" known also as what mother used to make! All this for just £4.99 for a lunchtime meal or £5.99 evenings and Saturdays and £7.99 for Sunday lunch represents extremely good value by today's standards. They also don't forget their mini diners with 'Kids Eat Free' Monday to Saturday between 3pm and 6pm and during school holidays it's All Day Monday to Saturday.

But it doesn't stop there they also have a full main menu consisting of the classic pub favourites such as steaks, mixed grills, burgers and fish and chips, where the fish would not be out of place in any issue of 'Moby Dick'. To finish is there very tempting dessert menu, that's if you have room after the size of meals you get at The Park Lane Tavern.

Then if that's not enough choice for you you can also choose for the breakfast which is served Friday, Saturday and Sunday 08.30am until 11.00am. Their breakfast is a buffet style 'All you can eat' with enough choice to satisfy any diner from eggs 2 ways, bacon, sausage, mushrooms, baked beans, hash browns, black pudding, grilled fresh tomatoes, toast & fried bread. There's even jam for your toast if you still not full after all that.

Half Price Monday

They also host special evenings like their 'Half Price Monday' which has proven to be very popular, and why not, already reasonably priced selected main meals off their main menu (which includes steaks) at half price served between 5pm and 8pm every Monday. Also their psychic evenings where for £15 you get a reading from a medium and a carvery, for those believers amongst you that must be a bargain. You get a very friendly feeling when you enter The Park Lane Tavern and that's mostly down to the staff. Happy to see you and always keen to help. They have a lot of regular customers and it's been known for a customer's drink to be poured and waiting for them before they reach the bar, you don't see that at many places nowadays. There are no airs or graces at The Park Lane Tavern, you get delicious food at great prices served by happy staff in a comfortable environment. No wonder this place has people returning time after time.

Offering a warm welcome

Managers Paul and Carol always ensure a warm welcome to customers both old and new at Blackheath's Shoulder of Mutton pub.

For all the sports fans they boast three large TV screens featuring all sports on Sky, BT and all BOX OFFICE Events not to mention AT THE RACES.

For those who like 'doing' rather than 'watching', there is the availability of the pool table and dart board.

Loyalty

The pub itself boasts a wide range of ciders, lagers, wines and spirits including four 'Real Ales' which they rotate weekly. Regulars very often enjoy ales such as Bathams, AJ Ales, Oakham, JHB, Stairway To Heaven and MA Pardoes Entire, plus many more!

The pub also run a loyalty scheme which means customers can get 10p back on their card for every pound they spend.

A pub spokesman added: "With a juke box and free WIFI to compliment the regular entertainment every Friday, customers cannot ask for much more from a local pub!"

A chassis rethink transformed the car

Audi cabriolet is good-looking and as nicely crafted as ever

By Ian Donaldson

It doesn't take long – a few metres and a couple of potholes will do – to discover that the new Audi A5 Cabriolet is comfortably better than the car it replaces.

For, like the A5 Coupe and four-door A5 Sportback it joined, this soft-top Audi aims to add more than style to the ownership experience.

High on the list of must-have changes was comfort. Or as an Audi spokesman said: "The cars now have a much more compliant ride. It was perhaps a little bit too firm, especially for UK roads."

"Hallelujah!", you might shout in reply after years of Audis that performed beautifully on (Germanically) smooth roads but went to pieces on a typically pockmarked UK surface.

Better late than never, though.

This chassis rethink has transformed the car, tested here in the latest Cabriolet form and as good looking and nicely crafted as ever.

The two petrol engines are a 2.0 litre with 190 horsepower and the 3.0 litre six-cylinder in the 155mph S5 range topper with its eight-speed auto gearbox and quattro four-wheel drive.

The car is bigger but it is snug in the back

It will hit 62mph in 5.1 seconds and consume petrol at an average of 36.2mpg in the official test, with CO2 emissions of 177g/km and a list price topping £40,000.

This latest A5 Cabriolet is a little longer (+47mm) and a fraction narrower (-8mm) than before. Stretching the distance between front and rear wheels by 14mm and designing thinner seats have improved space inside the cabin, though it remains snug for adult-sized passengers in the rear.

They won't mind the lack of stretching room in a car designed to look good with roof up or down – it retracts in 15 seconds at the prod of a switch and closes in 18 seconds, both operations possible at up to 31mph, which will stop pedestrians in their tracks if attempted in a busy town centre.

Practicality is assured by a boot that measures 380 litres with the roof up or a still reasonable 320 litres with it folded. The rear seat has a 50/50 split if you need more luggage room and the boot lid now opens with the standard remote control key or a button in the driver's door.

Weight savings of up to a modest 40 kilos (it varies by version and the lightest newcomer still tips the scales at 1,690kgs) have come from moves as varied as high strength steel for the new front seats, an aluminium brake pedal – and even using lighter carpets.

As well as adding lightness the latest cabriolet also has a stiffer body, always hard to achieve when you cut the metal roof off a design. That ought to reap benefits in both ride comfort and fewer squeaks and rattles from the roof.

Or, in the case of this car, no squeaks or rattles at all. Yes, there was the mildest shimmy on bad surfaces but not enough to matter, or really even notice after the first couple of miles.

Hood down and mesh wind deflector in place, a sunny day with 9C showing on the dash brings fresh air heaven even at a 70mph motorway cruise.

Drop down to 60mph and you wonder if a hood is ever required apart from when the rain arrives – the cockpit is so cosy and quiet.

There is plenty of pull when needed and you'd really not know a diesel was doing the work until you checked the trip computer to discover even used with enthusiasm the car is returning better than 40mpg.

How comfortable does that make you feel...

Richie to train Rio for boxing debut

FORMER world champion Richie Woodhall will train former England captain Rio Ferdinand in his pursuit to become a boxer.

Ferdinand, who retired from football in May 2015, wants to gain a boxing licence and compete for a title belt at the age of 38. He will be training with former WBC super-middleweight champ and Baggies fan Woodhall, aged 49.

Woodhall believes Ferdinand has the potential to box at a professional level and praised the former defender's fitness and enthusiasm.

"In all honesty, I think Rio can definitely box as a professional given time. He has natural power in his right hand, is extremely fit and is very enthusiastic to learn," said Woodhall.

"Style wise, he's very raw and I'll have to develop this which will take time but he has all the natural ingredients."

Woodhall has a wealth of boxing experience to offer Ferdinand. He competed as a professional boxer for a decade between 1990 in 2000.

Former Saddlers star links up with hospice

A FORMER Walsall player has teamed up with a hospice to give people the chance to stay connected with younger generations of their family after they die. James Chambers, who also played for West Bromwich Albion, has partnered up with Mary Stevens Hospice for the initiative.

His company MyFarewell will be launched in November, providing a video service allowing people to record messages and stories for their family. Mr Chambers said: "This is something I've been passionate about doing for nearly a decade. However losing dad a few years ago really did hammer home how important it was for me to provide this service for families, so the same season I finished playing and started working on MyFarewell."

Dan Malin, digital media specialist at Mary Stevens Hospice, said: "One of the most important things that we offer our patients is the opportunity for them to create a memory box for their families, which they fill with photos, objects, stories and treasured personal items which mean so much to them, and to their loved ones."

EFL clubs in favour of closing window early

EFL clubs have indicated they are in favour of an early closure to the summer transfer window from next season.

The decision was taken following a summit of all 72 clubs last Thursday, and will be subject to further discussions before it is put to a formal vote in February.

The EFL is set to follow the Premier League after its clubs agreed to close the window the day before the start of the 2018-19 season earlier this month. The EFL's proposal however, would continue to allow the signing of players on loan until August 31.

The indication by the EFL teams to introduce a shorter window for player transfers follows debate about the uncertainty caused to managers and players with activity still ongoing once the season has started.

EFL chief executive Shaun Harvey said: "We will now go away and look to develop a set of proposals before moving this matter on to the next stage, which would be a formal vote in order to change our regulations."

Rampant Stour seize second spot

Warrington Town 1 Stourbridge 5
RAMPANT Stourbridge put Warrington to the sword with a victory that seized second spot in the Evo-Stik Premier standings.

The Glassboys led after 15 minutes when Stuart Pierpoint marked his return by crashing home a Tom Tonks free-kick at the far post. Stour doubled two minutes later from another Tonks set piece as a scramble ensued from a corner and Jordan Archer pounced.

The visitors should have made it three in five minutes but Archer could not divert a near-post cross from recent recruit from Hednesford Devann Green.

Warrington had their first sniff of goal when Rory McKeown drilled over from the edge of the box and the same player then teed up Josh Hine to whack a shot harmlessly over the crossbar.

Stour's Leon Broadhurst could only find the wall with a 25-yard free-kick 10 minutes before half-time but a mysterious penalty gave the home side a lifeline which Sean Williams gleefully took three minutes after the restart.

The Glassboys hit straight back as Archer latched on to a perfectly-weighted ball with the striker needing no second invitation to double his tally.

The game was up less than three minutes later as Broadhurst converted a deep free-kick and, after Aaron Forde was thwarted by keeper Tony McMillan, Paul McCone soon made it five from Forde's corner on 63 minutes.

Stourbridge 0 Lancaster City 0
Stourbridge allowed maximum points to slip from their grasp in a goalless stalemate with Lancaster. The Glassboys had enough chances to clinch three Evo-Stik Premier points during a first half when the City defence was at full stretch.

But, as the game progressed, Stourbridge looked increasingly unlikely to break the deadlock against an often packed but well-drilled City defence.

During the early stages City's goal led a charmed life as Stour created a number of openings. Broadhurst blazed over as City struggled to clear from a corner on 13 minutes and hit the post on 22 minutes before the ball was scrambled away for a corner. From the resulting cross, City goalkeeper Josh Powell managed to block a goal-bound effort from central defender Jack Duggan.

Stourbridge continued to press and, two minutes later, Powell pushed another effort from the advancing Duggan round the post. From the following corner, the unlucky Duggan was denied again when City defender Ryan Winder cleared off the line.

Stourbridge could find no way through in the second half despite introduction of new signing Green, who looked lively. But it was City who could have snatched the points. Glassboys goalkeeper Matt Gould saved at Craig Carney's feet on 81 minutes before a scare in stoppage time when a shot from Scott Harries beat the keeper but struck Ollie Wood and cannoned back into Gould's grateful arms.

Back-to-back triumphs for racers

ENDURANCE stars Pete Wright and Martyn Siviter claimed back-to-back titles in just their second year of racing after wrapping up the championship at Snetterton.

The Black Country-based Double Two Racing – which also saw racers Scott Stevens and Harry Blades step in for the team – rode to the Club 600 title, having dominated the newcomer class last year. Wright, from Tividale, and Siviter, from Blackheath, will now move up the premier class after winning their latest crown with a round to spare. Wright said: "A massive thank you to our third team member and unsung hero who is our head of pit crew, a wonder woman that holds the team together, my wife, Aly.

"Also a shout out to all of team Track Prep who have been great rivals on track but great friends off."

Victory had been on the cards before the flag dropped as the Double Two Racing team arrived at Snetterton on the back of three race wins and four second places. It meant Wright and Siviter, who had led the championship since round two, just needed a third place finish to wrap up the championship.

Ball hopes to build on his debut

DANNY Ball is looking to build on his debut knockout victory with another thrilling performance on BCB Promotions' 'You Asked For It!' show at Wall-sall Town Hall later this month.

The 21-year-old made light work of Martin Kabrhel in July stopping the Czech fighter in the opening round.

The Kingswinford boxer was delighted with his professional debut and is looking forward to his second punch-for-pay contest, against MJ Hall, on Saturday.

Hall is something of an unknown quantity, having fought just once to date but not to Ball. The pair have enjoyed the odd sparring session over at Wednesday Boxing Academy and Ball is looking forward to renewing acquaintances.

"I sparred Matt (Matt James Hall) leading up to my debut," Ball told bcb-promotions.com. "He's a nice lad. He's southpaw, so it's something a little different. He's from my neck of the woods too, so that adds another dimension to the fight."

Topping 'You Asked For It', sponsored by Grosvenor Casino Walsall, is the Midlands Area Middleweight Title clash between undefeated Tom Stokes (West Bromwich) and Tyler Denny (Rowley Regis). Bloxwich super bantamweight, James Beech Junior, Wolverhampton's super flyweight, Kyle Williams, Ledbury super lightweight, Alex 'Pinky' Florence, and Stoke light heavyweight, Luke Caci, are also in action. Wolverhampton welterweight, Lauren Johnson, completes the card.

Wolves duo's world title hopes fade

FREDDIE Lindgren and Tai Woffinden saw their world title bids take a hit as red-hot Slovenian star Matej Zagar won his second straight FIM Speedway Grand Prix in Stockholm on Saturday.

Wolves captain Lindgren scored nine points to leave him fourth in the standings with 107, 25 points behind championship leader Jason Doyle.

And things were even worse for Wolves asset Woffinden, whose six-point haul put him sixth in the table – seven points back from Lindgren.

But it was Zagar who was the star of the Swedish meeting, winning the event and surging up to eighth in the series.

YELTZ BACK AT THE BOTTOM

Stalybridge Celtic 1 Halesowen Town 0
THE battle of the bottom two clubs in the Evo-Stik League Premier Division was decided by a first-half goal, which sent Yeltz back to the basement.

Liam Dickinson opened the scoring for Stalybridge on nine minutes when he beat the offside trap.

Yeltz goalkeeper Daniel Platt made a number of good saves to keep the score down to one at half-time.

Luke Shearer had a good chance for Halesowen in the second half but saw his shot saved. Two minutes from time, he set up Daniel Udoh in front of goal, but that chance was missed.

The result dropped Halesowen to the bottom, one point behind Stalybridge.

Halesowen Town 1 Warrington Town 1
Substitute James Spray rescued a point for Halesowen with an 88th-minute strike in a scrappy Evo-Stik Premier contest against high-flying Warrington at The Grove.

The Yeltz suffered an early blow when central defender Dominic Smith limped off after just six minutes. The Yellows then took the lead in the 17th minute when Caleb Richards beat Platt at his near post with a deflected shot.

Visiting 'keeper Anthony McMillan raced off his line to block Shearer's 22nd-minute effort and Lee Chilton blasted a free-kick straight at McMillan six minutes later.

Home substitute Roland Agbor cut in from the left in the 55th minute but fired over the bar.

Udoh rolled a great chance wide of goal after the Warrington defence opened up following good work from Roland Agbor in the 67th minute. Platt prevented Warrington from increasing their lead when he beat away a fierce shot from substitute Joe Mwasi after 75 minutes.

But the Yeltz finally equalised with two minutes remaining when the Warrington defence failed to clear captain Asa Charlton's left-wing cross, allowing Spray to smash home.

Spray that again – super-sub James Spray celebrates his late equaliser to hold Warrington at the Grove

Speedway king Karlsson officially retires

PETER Karlsson, one of Wolverhampton's all-time great riders, has officially brought the curtain down on his glittering speedway career.

Karlsson had a successful farewell meeting at Monmore in March but continued racing in Sweden, his home country.

Now he's decided to retire after almost 30 years as a professional rider and a host of international and domestic honours.

Wolves owner Chris Van Straaten said: "Peter is a special character and will always be a legend at Wolverhampton."

"I would like to see him remain involved in the sport in some way and there is no doubt in my mind if he was based in the UK we would find some way to make use of his talents."

Meanwhile, Cradley Heathens were last night (Wednesday) due to take on Eastbourne at Perry Barr in their re-arranged last league meeting of the season.

Birmingham Dogs Home was founded in 1892 on land made available by the late Sir Alfred Gooch Bart in New Canal Street, Birmingham. Sadly this building, which over a century later still had 'Birmingham Home for Lost and Starving Dogs' proudly displayed above its doors, was destroyed in a fire during 2014' but from the foundations established at this humble building, the charity continues to exist and grow.

Almost 100 years after the charities founding - in 1887 - the Duchess of York officially opened the new Bartholomew Street home, which had been purpose-built to provide shelter and protection for over 150 abandoned dogs in comfortable kennel blocks with adjacent facilities, such as its own vets' clinic, puppy unit and isolation block.

The home is a charity which can only survive through the generosity and support of the general public and benefactors from the local community. Without this we would be unable to carry on the vital work of rescuing and rehoming abandoned dogs.

The tremendous help given over the years has allowed us to improve and extend our facilities and, therefore, our ability to care for these unfortunate former pets.

While the Birmingham site houses our head office, our second site - Sunnyside - in Coven, Wolverhampton, is a showpiece 21st century home built at the cost of £2m and opened in September 2002.

Sunnyside houses 100 strays in state-of-the-art accommodation complete with veterinary consulting room and isolation unit for dogs requiring special, one-to-one care and treatment.

Our New Home

The kennels, which we believe are one of the best purpose-built homes in the UK, are surrounded by green fields and towering trees which allow for excellent exercise facilities and the opportunity for potential owners to walk and get to know their dog of choice better.

In recent years the charity recognised that the facilities offered by our rehoming centre in Digbeth were falling behind the expected standard of a modern animal welfare establishment. With very little room to expand the existing home the Trustees decided to find a new location for the centre on the South side of Birmingham, a site that can enhance the service provided by the charity now and for years to come.

After looking at 65 potential sites the Trustees agreed to purchase a 12.45 acre site situated on Catherine de Barnes Lane, Solihull. The site is in the Green Belt, so a very detailed environmentally considerate design had to be put together if the charity had any hope of gaining the necessary planning approval from Solihull Council. Such a scheme was compiled and on the 10th July 2013 planning approval was granted for the construction of a £5.5M Animal Welfare Centre.

On the 22nd September 2014 work began on site with the new home opening on the 23rd October 2015. The Centre comprises of 128 large kennels with under floor heating, veterinary suite, education / community centre and superb staff facilities. The 12.45 acre site gives plenty of room, for volunteers and supporters looking to find their new companion, to walk dogs in open countryside.

Birmingham Dogs Home recognises that none of this would have been possible without the loyal long standing support of the people of Birmingham, Solihull and the West Midlands.

Client Hills Veterinary Group

Does your dog have behavioural issues?

Does your dog suffer from separation-related anxiety, compulsive behaviours, noise phobias, aggression or generalised anxiety? Does their behaviour have a negative impact on you and your home, and them?

As owners, we might think our pet is simply 'acting out' or trying to get attention, however, the problem could run much deeper and that's where veterinary behavioural medicine can help. Joao Teotonio, veterinary surgeon, spent 3 months in Australia learning Behavioural Medicine with Dr Kersti Seksel - one of the world's top specialists in the subject. He then moved back to Portugal to write his Master's thesis on fear-related disorders in dogs and his interest for behaviour never stopped growing. JT now runs veterinary behavioural appointments for Client Hills Vets.

Client Hills Vets are putting on a FREE event for pet owners where they can come and meet Joao and learn more about dog behaviour, and ask questions about their own pet. The event will take place at 7pm on Monday 23rd October at Client Hills Vets' Bromsgrove practice, 5 Kidderminster Road, B61 7JJ. Booking early is advised, call 01527 889810 or visiting clienthillsvets.co.uk to book your places.
